FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE.

A Negro Plays Havoc With a Lynching Party.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 31.—Wm. Amelung, a farmer, lives in the little town of Bridgeton, thirteen miles from St. Louis. He has a daughter 19 years old, and four sons. Some time ago he had a negro named Taylor Pointer in his employ. Some one told the young men that the negro had boasted that he had been intimate with their sister. Yesterday the four Amelung boys and their four brother-in-laws, consulted the matter, and decided to wreak summary vengeance on the alleged slanderer. Accordingly, last night, the eight men went to the house of a negro named Bivens, where Pointer was. Amanda Bivens, a young girl, was lying at the point of death. The white men called for Pointer, but Bivens begged them to go away, as his daughter was dying. The men rushed into the house, and a desperate fight ensued. Pointer was seized, but floored two men with a flat-iron, and after several on both sides had been hurt the assailing party were drawn off. They returned, however, and Pointer, who had in the mean time got hold of a shot gun, used it, and one of the party who was just in the act of using his revolver, fell with his face half shot away. The assailants then gave up the fight, and Pointer surrendered to the Sheriff. He is now in jail, and asserts that he never said a word against the young girl. The one who was shot, is still alive, but both eyes are shot out, and he has but little chance of living.

Worse than La Grippe.

St. Louis, Jan. 31.—Reports come from Cook county, Texas, that a very fatal epidemic, strongly resembling meningitis, is raging in the Western part of that county. The patients die, in many instances in a few hours after taking the disease. Twenty-five deaths have been reported from the malady during the past 24 hours. So far the physicians have been unable to check it, and it has already spread over the country, causing great excitement. Many citizens are fleeing from their homes to other localities not yet visited by the plague.

Eager to Meet.

New York, Jan. 31.—Peter Jackson, the colored pugilist, is here. The California Athletic Club stands ready with a $15,000 purse for this coming contest and Sullivan and Jackson are eager to meet one another within the roped square. Another match, which admirers of pugilism are anxious to see brought about, is that between Jake Kilrain and Frank Slavin. A match with Kilrain is more probable for Slavin than one with Sullivan, at least until Sullivan and Jackson have settled the question of supremacy.

Died at the Age of 120.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 30.—The oldest person who ever lived at Elgin died this afternoon. She was colored, and her name was Nancy Vaughn. The best reckoning of her friends makes her age nearly 120 years. She was able, up to within a week, to be about the house. She said she was quite a big girl when Washington died.

Marriage of Henry Gladstone.
London, Jan. 31.—Henry Gladstone, son of Hon. W. E. Gladstone, was married yesterday to the daughter of Stuart Rendell, Home-Rule member of the House of Commons for Montgomeryshire.

Nellie Bly's Rival Arrives.

New York, Jan. 31.—The Cunard Line steamer Bothnia was seen off Sandy Hook yesterday. Miss Bismarck, the competitor of Nellie Bly in the race around the world, is on board.

A Colored Murderer Hanged.
Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 31.—Geo. Tobler (colored) was hanged yesterday for the murder of Erwin Richardson (colored) last September.

The Signal Service reporter says there will be fine weather for the next twenty days.
